

XCENTRIC, LLC Recognized in “40 Under 40” for Two Consecutive Years

ALPHARETTA, GA, September, 20 2007— Trey James, President & CEO of Xcentric, was recently recognized as one of the 40 most influential people in the accounting industry under the age of 40 for the second year in a row by The CPA Technology Advisor, the leading technology publication to the CPA marketplace.

This honor reflects Trey’s contributions to the field of public accounting, as well as the high regard with which he is held by his peers. Nominations for the 40 Under 40 program were made by vendors, consultants, thought leaders, firm managers, and The CPA Technology Advisor’s readership of nearly 50,000 practicing public accountants.

The 40 Under 40 program is more than just an acknowledgement of Trey’s past efforts as it also reflects his promise that he will continue to provide solutions that better the accounting industry through technology. Trey and his team at Xcentric are committed to being the premiere technology provider to the CPA marketplace.

Roman Kepczyk, President of InfoTech Partners North America, had this to say about Trey James: “Trey brings many years of experience, not only as an Information Technology Leader that understands the nuances of the CPA profession, but also as an enterprise class systems technician who truly understands the inner workings of CPA firms.”
